this book is about the development of one institution and its developmental work in education in south and central asia and in east africa the institute for educational development ied at the aga khan university aku in karachi pakistan the ied came into being in 1993 and launched its first programme in 1994 an m ed in teacher education it recruited 20 teachers carefully selected from schools in pakistan east africa tajikistan and bangladesh there should have been a teacher from india but sadly she was not granted a visa to come these 20 teachers graduating from the m ed course 18 months later were the first graduates from the ied they became the first professional development teachers pdts working with schools and running short courses for other teachers at the ied after three years of pdt work some of these graduates were selected for ph d studies overseas and are now doctoral graduates and central ied faculty the wheel has come full circle in the meantime the m ed programme has flourished and developed with eight cohorts of selected teachers the ied programmes have expanded in a variety of ways and in a variety of directions some are academic programmes educating teachers and educational managers in a university environment albeit with school focused work some are professional programmes located in the field albeit with theoretical elements perceived as central to the developmental process the ied has attracted attention both nationally and internationally in the countries listed above professional programmes have developed to run alongside the central ied operation the ied s work has become visible to government agencies who from tentative initial investment are now looking towards the ied to work with them in the developmental field other countries have seen the results of the ied s work in the original countries and have asked to join the developmental enterprise the ied now works with three countries in east africa namely kenya tanzania and uganda in afghanistan syria and several central asian countries including tajikistan and kyrgyzstan there are possibilities of initiating work in other countries in the region perceived in such terms the ied s growth and influence reads like an educational developmental success story and of course it is a success but this is not to say that there are not many issues and problems to face in its day to day and decade to decade development in 2003 the ied celebrated 10 years of operation this was a time to celebrate and also to take stock of its achievements and issues it has many impact programmes in place seeking to provide sound research evidence to document processes in learning and growth and issues that have to be addressed one problem of rapid growth is that it is easy for the institute and its faculty to become overextended so that in depth review of programmes and outcomes is never achieved despite considerable overextension the ied is striving to avoid this danger this book is a product of the 10 years of development it had been hoped to complete it for the 10 year celebrations but as with other aspects of the ied it kept on growing this volume tries to provide an account of development from a number of perspectives such as historical chronological issues based and honestly critical based on a careful empirical study of nearly four thousand cases filed in three southern federal districts this book focuses on how the bankruptcy act of 1867 helped shape the course and outcome of reconstruction although passed by a republican dominated congress that was commonly viewed as punitive toward the post civil war south the bankruptcy act was a great benefit to southerners in this first study of the operation of the 1867 act elizabeth lee thompson challenges previous works which maintain that nineteenth century southerners uniformly opposed federal bankruptcy laws as threatening extensions of federal power to the contrary thompson finds that southerners faced with the war s devastation were more likely to file for bankruptcy than debtors in other parts of the country the act thus was the major piece of federal economic legislation that benefited southerners during reconstruction thompson determines that because the vast majority of the bankruptcy act s southern beneficiaries were propertied white men the legislation served to stabilize and entrench the postwar economic and thus social and political power of the sector that included those who were recently leading secessionists and confederates their participation in a federal process through federal tribunals during an era of intense white southern opposition to policies emanating from washington reveals the complex interaction of states rights ideology and self interest however thompson shows white southerners ultimately sacrificed neither in relation to the bankruptcy act after thousands had received economic relief through the statute and the number of filings had slowed to a trickle southern congressmen supported the act s repeal in 1878
